Aviators' Sufferings Told

Hardships Related of Americans Lost in Northern Wilds

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

COCHRANE (Ont.) Jan. 4.—First details of the experiences of three American naval balloonists who suffered unusual hardships while wandering for four days in the dense Canadian woods were forced to eat their carrier pigeons to subsist were received here tonight from the Anglican minister at Moose Factory, Hudson Bay Company trading post, where they found shelter. The minister reported that the balloonists, who left New York, via the (N. Y.) naval air station at 12:15 p.m. December 13, had fifteen miles northwest of Moose Factory on the afternoon next day. They thought they were still in New York State, being high in the clouds most of the time.

They came down, the minister said, because they thought they heard a dog barking. They were lost in the deep undergrowth for two days and had given up hope of ever reaching civilization.

CATCH UP WITH INDIAN.

FORTUNATELY on December 17 they came to the Moose River and found tracks of human feet through the snow. Later they met an Indian, Tom Marks, who was out hunting. One of the three aviators was using a suit of underwear as an outer garment and the others were in uniform. Marks, taken by surprise at such an invasion, was reported to have at first resisted their efforts to fraternize with him. Eventually they succeeded in convincing him that he meant no harm and guided them to the Moose Factory trading post.

Absence of severe frost during the time of their wandering in the forest undoubtedly saved them from freezing to death, but its severity for days past has been a menace to the men and the organized engineering of the nation, has been a menace and has been finally met into the American interest of the Federated Engineering Societies, under the leadership of Herbert

LORD MAYOR STOWAWAY

Two Irish Patriots in Our Midst.

Executive of Cork Leaves City to Shift for Itself and Comes to America.

With P. J. MacSwiney is Thrown in Jail at Newport News; Released.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE] DUBLIN, Jan. 4.—Official proclamation extends the martial law areas to Counties Clare, Waterford, Wexford and Kilkenny and to the city of Waterford, effective today.

WASHINGTON (Va.) Jan. 4.—Peter J. MacSwiney of New York, brother of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, and Daniel O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, arrived tonight as stowaways on the American steamer West Cannon from Cork.

Immediately upon arrival of the West Cannon, immigration authorities discovered the two on board, and disregarding the claims of their identity, had them placed in custody pending investigation. MacSwiney carried a passport issued by an American Consul, and could have made the trip openly, but chose rather to stowaway on board Lord Mayor O'Callaghan. Upon showing his passport, MacSwiney was released and the Lord Mayor was freed as soon as authorities arrived.

LORD MAYOR RETICENT.

The Lord Mayor took up his residence for the time at the hotel, refusing to discuss his visit. According to MacSwiney, however, he is in the United States at the invitation of the committee of one hundred at Washington investigating the Irish situation.

O'Callaghan is under guard furnished by immigration officials.

THE GOVERNMENT APPLAUSED.

The Governor, however, was granted with general applause. He was introduced briefly by Speaker Wright, and prefaced his prepared message by a few extempore remarks, saying:

"It gives me great pleasure to stand in the presence of this membership today. Perhaps more than most governors have an understanding of the labor movement in our State, and we will accomplish more, because of their participation."

JOHNSON'S ATTITUDE.

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, expressed a disposition to stand on the antislavery law enacted in November and opposed the proposed general antislavery bill, which would only unnecessarily complicate the situation. The present law, he said, was "strictly within the rights of California" and it would not interfere with the state's right to do so.

Senator Phelan made no statement after conferring at the State Department with Roland S. Morris, Ambassador to Japan, who has been conducting informal conversations with Japanese Shibusawa, of part with a view of laying the basis of a new American-Japanese treaty.

Also today the California delegation in Congress conferred to consider the bill.

RECENTLY the Lord Mayor sent a cablegram to the Irish Americans of the United States urging them to organize a relief fund for Ireland.

Daniel O'Callaghan, as deputy of Lord Mayor of Cork, performed the duties of Lord Mayor MacSwiney while the latter was in prison. Shortly after MacSwiney died, his son, a member of the British strike late in October, O'Callaghan was elected Lord Mayor.

Recently the Lord Mayor sent a cablegram to the Irish Americans of the United States urging them to organize a relief fund for Ireland.

O'Callaghan presided at a special meeting of the City Council, December 13, at which resolutions giving the City Council power to ratify the proposed truce between England and Ireland were adopted. These resolutions concluded by saying:

"We proclaim our unshakable determination to seek or sanction a true peace such international agreement as may be arranged between the Dail Eireann and the English government."

MORE REVENUE ALSO PROBLEM.

Legislators Urged to Consider Taxation Questions.

Attention Called to Our New Antialien Land Law.

Relief of State Institutions Will be Considered.

INT. & P. NIGHT WIRE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—Gov. Stephens today read his second biennial message to a joint session of the State Legislature, being greeted with applause, heard with close attention interspersed with outbursts of applause, and given a cordial farewell when he finished the reading.

A joint committee reported to the Governor to the Assembly chamber where he was introduced very briefly by Speaker Wright. At the conclusion of the reading, Lieut.-Gov. Young spoke for a moment, felicitating the Governor on his address and thanking him on behalf of both houses.

The entire address was heard with deep attention, but much applause was elicited by Gov. Stephens's recommendation for a tightening up of penal statutes and the enforcement of criminal law, to his announcement for economy and the related suggestion that he would encourage state agencies to save expense and his reference to the decided voice of the people in adopting the antialien land law.

THE MESSAGE IN FULL.

The full text of the message follows:

To the Senate and Assembly:

In obedience to my constitutional duty, I am presenting to you here, with my biennial message and report of the affairs of our State covering the period since the adjournment of the Legislature in April, 1919.

While the war problems confronting the entire world at that time, and affecting necessarily our own State, no longer so vitally concern us, and the financial problems connected with the readjustment program are now fully upon us. Their solution has not been completely attained. It was to have been expected that with five years of hatred and bitterness, discontent, progress and impairment of character, civic morale, a stunned civilization would reel aimlessly for some period of time and until sound judgment, clear vision and calmer passions had restored the world to normality.

THE WORLD SITUATION.

I refer to this world situation, because in almost every other way, our country and our State are deeply concerned—indeed, the economic life of the world is but one of many factors which may and will affect our State and the rest of Europe. The war is, however, staggering to her feet again. The debt that she has accumulated is an almost insuperable burden, and the claims of soldiers and their dependents are essential to her full recovery.

This world condition, which has affected the people of the State of California, presents elements of

STRONG RECOMMENDATIONS ARE MADE IN EXECUTIVE MESSAGE.

Here are some of the outstanding features of Gov. Stephens' second biennial message, read to the joint session of the Legislature yesterday:

Urge recommends comprehensive investigation of State's water resources for irrigation and power purposes, declaring that with the exception of cheap power, California will rank premier in industrial and commercial development.

Declares that all States on the Pacific Coast stand as a bulwark and defense against the orientalization of western civilization.

Strongly urges some emanation of policy on part of the State towards the university. Recommends legislation giving regents aid to alleviate present conditions.

Declares that any attempt to modify laws enacted to deal with the I.W.W., anarchism and Bolshevikism should be most vigorously resisted.

In touching on recent lynching urges revision of Penal Code to abolish slowness of courts in dealing with criminals.

Intend to cut down unnecessary expense and duplication.

Declares that all States on the Pacific Coast stand as a bulwark and defense against the orientalization of western civilization.

Strongly urges some emanation of policy on part of the State towards the university. Recommends legislation giving regents aid to alleviate present conditions.

Declares that any attempt to modify laws enacted to deal with the I.W.W., anarchism and Bolshevikism should be most vigorously resisted.

In touching on recent lynching urges revision of Penal Code to abolish slowness of courts in dealing with criminals.

Sanctity of our woman are the essentials of social existence and no dangerous promptings of pity to malefactors should be tolerated. Mob violence, after all, is a physical manifestation of discontent with the processes of criminal justice, and it is of prime importance that in this economic turmoil, through which we must necessarily pass, we do not complicate our difficulties by toleration of any attack upon these sanctities.

CLAD FOR TEACHERS.

A mere revision of law, however, will not accomplish the full purpose that the people have in mind. There must be an end to the infinite delays attendant upon the prosecution of many of our criminal charges. It has been wisely said that delayed justice is denied justice, and if the spirit of this axiom could but be instilled into the minds of all those charged with the administration of justice, there would be a decided step toward a remedying of these evil conditions than by mere legislation.

The people of our country have other and more important things to consider without having to sacrifice their aspirations.

They contain within them means for their own modification or alteration to keep step with the evolution of the times. They are the model by which the majority is directed in certain rational limitations upon government and, as such, should be most religiously cherished against any foolish or criminally conceived theories developed in the heretic minds of an ignorant element of the people.

Bolshevism, I. W. W., anarchism and all the other fanatical and destructive fantasies or disorders of criminal minds have been denounced in this State recently, and in which the various problems connected with the readjustment program are now fully upon us. Their solution has not been completely attained. It was to have been expected that with five years of hatred and bitterness, discontent, progress and impairment of character, civic morale, a stunned civilization would reel aimlessly for some period of time and until sound judgment, clear vision and calmer passions had restored the world to normality.

DEPLORABLE INCIDENT.

The deplorable incident which happened in this State recently, and in which the various problems connected with the readjustment program are now fully upon us. Their solution has not been completely attained. It was to have been expected that with five years of hatred and bitterness, discontent, progress and impairment of character, civic morale, a stunned civilization would reel aimlessly for some period of time and until sound judgment, clear vision and calmer passions had restored the world to normality.

URGE ECONOMY.

In furtherance of this principle of rigid economy, I will shortly recommend to you during the present session of the Legislature, a state measure, encouraged crime, must eliminate unnecessary duplication and cut down unnecessary expenses. Security of life, home and property and the necessary expense. A complete plan of consolidation, unfortunately, cannot be prepared, because many of our commissions are constitutional commissions, while others in turn are only statutory. Manifestly, legislation cannot be enacted trenching in any degree on the functions and powers of the constitutional commissions or offices. It is never to be borne in mind, of course, that the large social, humanitarian and industrial work outlined for our government and departments to perform must not be interfered with to the impairment of service. These boards and commissions in the main, have rendered good service and have performed exactly the work for which they were created. A financial frugality is obtained by curtailting services in an economic loss and not a saving.

I call to your serious attention the fiscal problems that have been presented to the State of California within the last two years by legislation enacted by the people directly. Our fiscal officers until recently felt assured that prevailing income and revenue would be ample to provide for all the needs of the State, and that no unusual tax would be made upon the people of the State. At the last election, however, the people voluntarily assumed an additional large burden of taxes in the legislative calling for higher appropriations, and it is because of this that the financial difficulties referred to above have arisen.

BY KYLE PALMER.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 4.—Assemblyman Kline of Riverside county stated today that he would introduce early in the session a bill proposing an appropriation of $250,000 for the institution of a farm school in his county. He said $30,000 was appropriated two years ago and spent on securing a suitable site, and that the present appropriation will be sought to complete payment for the land, put water on it, and probably start construction of buildings. The farm school is to be under the direction of the State university.

Kline said he also would offer a bill creating an additional judge of the Superior Court. There but one Superior Court judge in that county at present and attorneys say the business has grown beyond the capacity of one judge.

Another small bill of interest in his section will be offered requesting an appropriation of $5000 for control work in the San Bernardino Mountains. Kline said the Federal government would match this sum if appropriated.

CHIROPRACTORS BUSY.

The chiropractors are going to make another effort to gain a legal standing for their work, according to a statement today by Assemblyman Baker of Los Angeles, who led their fight for a satisfactory law in the last session.

The chiropractic bill received thirty-nine affirmative votes in the Assembly, but the session ended and, as such, did not become law.

The chiropractic bill received a bare majority—had been pledged to it, but it failed to pass because of the absence of the Assembliesmen who were absent. After it failed to pass an initiative movement was started to get 80,000 signatures and the measure was passed at the polls, and that was assigned at the reason for a changed leadership in the proposed effort.

The bill will probably be modeled on the Ratielike bill of last session.

BRAWLEY HIGHWAY.

A new highway linking Brawley and the country south and east of that point with the rest of California is to be sought of the present legislature, according to statements of Assemblyman Baker of the southern section of the State. Whether the new road should run in the most direct line from the present highway system to Brawley, or whether it should be routed through other points, is a question that the Legislature hope to settle together on before they present their wishes to the whole body.

Assemblyman Seal of Imperial county favors a road that will run through Warner Springs, according to his statements to other members. On the other hand, the Automobile Club of Southern California, working with the chambers of commerce of Riverside county, is in favor of a road from the present highway to Brawley, or whatever name it may be, considerably shorter. That is the opinion of several legislators from the south.

REAPPORTIONMENT MEASURES.

Two reapportionment measures and a like number dealing with reorganization of the State government were reported today to be pending before the Legislature.

Senators Clegg and Young, who understand that two efficient economy bills, one with the backing of the administration and the other with the support of the Taxpayers' Association, will soon be introduced, are hopeful that the remaining bills will be passed.

With the Governor's message before them, members of both houses were prepared to begin actual work upon the administration's program.

FREE DISCUSSION.

Free discussion of the message, which in general terms treated State budget, taxation and education, may expect full support on such important matters as proposed economy and retrenchment, revision of the tax system and development of irrigation and power projects.

The Governor's unequivocal demand that the antisyndical law be untouched despite efforts to modify the statute during any session of the Legislature.

Opponents of the antisyndical law, however, insist that the bill is threatened by union labor lobbyists.

A concerted drive in the administration of the University of California promises to develop one of the most spectacular fights in the Legislature. This approaching division became sharply apparent in comments of leading men upon the Governor's recommendation for a continuing issue of $5,000,000 to expand the University's facilities.

Proposed measures aimed at the State institution of higher learning include a bill to curtail the powers of the university's Board of Regents, but threaten legislation to place the regents in a position subordinate to a reorganized State Board of Education.

Opponents of the university administration are considering a proposal to create a State college of agriculture in the San Joaquin Valley, the proposed agricultural institution to be entirely divorced from the management of the University of California.

DEPRIVED OF BRANCHES.

Under this plan the university at Berkeley would be deprived of its agricultural department and branches, including the State Agricultural College at Davis and other smaller test schools.

Several branches of the proposed new agricultural university is planned for Van Nuys. Another branch, it said, will be located in Riverside.

Senators Clegg and Aspinwall, who understand that two efficient economy bills, one with the backing of the administration and the other with the support of the Taxpayers' Association, will soon be introduced, are hopeful that the remaining bills will be passed.

With the Governor's message before them, members of both houses were prepared to begin actual work upon the administration's program.

PROPOSES AMENDMENT.

The measure McDonald proposes is a constitutional amendment, necessitating a vote upon it by the people at the next general election.

"If we permit a reapportionment on the proposed basis that would give Los Angeles county twenty-one Assembliesmen and ten Senators we must add the remaining 'State,' he said.

Lieut.-Gov. Young said today there was no reason why reapportionment could not be effected at this regular session, instead of at a special session.

"I am speaking now not of current revenues for current disbursements, of money actually needed for permanent improvements such as buildings, halls, laboratories, hospitals, etc. There can be no question in the mind of anyone who has visited our State universities that the amount of money for the erection of structures to take care of the 10,000 students who throng the halls of learning. The university is the highest seat of learning of the people of this State. Its increasing popularity is due to the increasingly large attendance that crowds to its doors year by year.

As a part of our State system of education its doors are open without charge to the students.

TO EXPEDITE TARIFF BILL

*Extra Session for March 14
Planned by G.O.P.*

Senator Curtis Puts Proposition to Harding.

President-Elect Interposes No Objections.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—An extra session of Congress called to meet March 14 and a new plan for Senate hearings on tariff to enact a new tariff law in record time is the program of prominent Senators. Senator Curtis, Republican whip, put this proposition up to President-elect Harding when he saw him at Marion and the new Executive interposed no objection to the suggestion.

It has been suggested to President-elect Harding that the call for the extra session be delayed on March 4 to meet March 14, which is the first Monday in March.

CONGRESS'S KEYNOTE.

In discussing the extra session Senator Curtis told President-elect Harding that the keynote of Congress for two years to come would be government economy and that he believed that the government pay rolls could be reduced tremendously without crippling the service. He declared that before the war the Federal government had some $40,000,000 and now had $76,000. He estimated that it would take to cut employees of the Federal government could be dropped from the pay rolls with increased efficiency.

In regard to the early calling of the extra session Senator Curtis advised Mr. Harding that there was some sentiment in Congress for a delay until about April 1 so that the members could go home, but that he felt the majority of the members would prefer to get down to work as soon as possible so that they could finish before the extreme heat of summer.

OUTLINES SPEED PLAN.

Senator Curtis outlined a plan by which a tariff bill could be finished in record time and said he believed

HOW PRICES WILL RANGE ON YOUR SUIT THIS SPRING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—The market for men's spring and summer clothing was opened today and manufacturers offered suits much below that of 1920. One factory quoted the manufacturers' price of wool suits at $25, compared with $40 last fall and $37 a year ago. Fine blue serge suits are offered at $30, compared with $47 last fall and $42 a year ago. A standard worsted suit is now wholesaled at $34, compared with $45 in the spring of 1920. The very finest worsted suits made in America are offered at $55, compared with $80 last fall. Finest worsted trousers are $9, compared with $12.50 last spring.

Prices for summer goods such as Mohairs and Palm Beaches range upward from $14.50, compared with $8.50 last year.

Buyers say they have for the most part liquidated goods bought at peak prices and from now on prices will prevail on the new level.

FAILURES FOR YEAR ARE HUGE.*Dun Report for Twelve Months Shows Trend.*Four Years of Diminishing Insolvencies.*Sharp Turn Upward is Taken in 1920.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—R. G. Dun and Company's record of failure for 1920, made public today, showed 3,882 commercial failures throughout the country, with $295,321,805 in indebtedness, against $451 of liabilities in 1919, involving liabilities of $113,299,227.

The increase of 2,430 in number of commercial insolvencies last year as compared with those of 1919 is relatively much smaller than the expansion of $181,496,000 in indebtedness showing a rise in number of failures to have been 37.7 per cent, and of indebtedness 160.5 per cent, the report said.

After four successive years of diminishing commercial mortality, business reverses of 1920 increased sharply. This was said to be "not unnatural" in a period marked by general economic readjustment.

INCREASES ARE HUGE.

Reported according to occupation, the 1920 insolvency statement shows increases in manufacturing, trading and other commercial branches as compared with the results of 1919.

"Numerically, the largest increases in indebtedness are 41.3 per cent larger in number and 148 per cent heavier in the Middle Atlantic States; 45.4 per cent greater in the South Atlantic section; 44.8 per cent more numerous in the South Central States and 31.9 per cent in the Central East; while increases of 37.2, 16.2 and 27.0 per cent respectively, are reported by the Central, Western, Western and Pacific States.

The report of the tribunals, heavier amounts appear in each of the eight geographical divisions, there being an increase of 237.6 per cent in the Middle Atlantic States; 179 per cent in the South Atlantic section; 181.4 per cent more numerous in the South Central States and 119.9 per cent in the Central East; 190.7 per cent in the Central West; 139.4 per cent in the Western States; and 182.3 per cent on the Pacific Coast. The amount of increase in the indebtedness is 58.6 per cent in New England.

Failures were reported as follows:

Central West, 712 business reverses for $18,341,000 in 1920, 447 defaults for $6,415,622 in 1919.

Western States—315 failures with an indebtedness of $5,784,601, compared with 271 insolvencies for $2,116,341 in 1919.

Pacific States—377 commercial failures for the year 1920 with an aggregate indebtedness of $22,286,818 contrasting with 769 defaults in 1919 for $11,070,007.

INAUGURATION TEMPEST.

Proposed Appropriation of $50,000 Stirs
Senate to Much Oratory.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Proposed appropriation of $50,000 for Congressional expenses at the Capitol incident to President-elect Harding's inauguration encountered strong opposition today in the Senate. It finally was put over until tomorrow after two hours' debate encompassing such subjects as inaugural weather, the high cost of living, the care of feeble-minded persons in Washington and conditions in Europe.

Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Congressional committee in charge of the inaugural ceremonies, presented the resolution calling for $50,000 for a reviewing stand in front of the Capitol, invitations and other expenses. It was opposed by Senator Borah, Idaho, who has advocated spending only $10 on the inauguration, and Senators Norris of Nebraska and Jones of Washington and Fletcher of Florida.

Other Senators said, however, that custom should be followed in providing for adequate ceremonies at the Capitol.

OPPOSED TO DISPLAY.

Senator Harding, Borah declared, was opposed to ostentatious display and would avoid it if he could have his way. The Idaho Senator proposed that Congress would be asked to spend several hundred thousand dollars more and that, with expenses of the State and civic organizations, the total inauguration would run up to $1,000,000.

This would be a national embarrassment and would have to be answered for, Senator Borah declared, adding that with a million men out of employment every day economy should be exercised.

Senator Norris, Democrat of Missouri, declared that Jeffersonian eruption appears on the skins of some Democrats only when in the minority. He added he desired to express the opinion of Lincoln of the charge of kissing four or five ladies, adding that the affair was a long absence, he said, has pre-

The Soda Fountain

The soft drink and confectionery business offers a mighty attractive opportunity for the man interested in getting a good return on a moderate investment.

Since prohibition became effective the soft drink business has grown by leaps and bounds, but, even so, the demand is still far ahead of the supply.

The year 1920 was one of wonderful growth for the "Soft Drink Industry," but we look to see the coming year bring the greatest soft drink season the country has ever known.

We are located at the corner of Second and Los Angeles Streets, just a step from the shopping center, and any time we will gladly show you our display of

"Pedal Touch" Player

At no other store in Los Angeles than the Barnes Music Company can you purchase these famous players.

The Gulbransen "Pedal Touch" does for the player-pianist what "key-touch" does for the hand pianist. It gives direct control of expression through the pedals instead of indirect, mechanical control through "devices."

Gulbransen "Pedal-Touch" permits you to play leisurely, rhythmically or irregularly, as you choose, or as the music demands, accenting this or that note, bringing out a volume of tone or subduing the music to a mere whisper!

With the Pedal-Touch in ordinary players such results are unattainable, because pedalling means work, effort and concentration on quick change in expression, is impossible with those drawbacks. Pedalling the Gulbransen is so easy and natural, however, that it permits and invites playing with expression.

You can prove this to yourself in a few minutes' time. Try a Gulbransen at our store.

AUTO PLANTS REOPENING.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

DETROIT (Mich.) Jan. 1.—Although several Detroit automobile plants reopened yesterday after inventory, they did so with vastly decreased forces and 100,000 fewer men are employed than was the case two weeks ago, W. Grant, secretary of the Western Wholesale Drug Company, declared in a statement today.

"A net increase of only 1000 men has been added to the working forces of the factories in the last few days."

Mr. Grant stated that there were about 50,000 automobile workers employed. In normal times the number is about 300,000.

Mr. Grant asserted. Closing of the Ford and Dodge factories has swelled the number of unemployed, he said.

"People here who have reopened this week made only 1000 men,"

Grant said, in answering rumors that the industrial situation was brightening.

He refused to predict when local factories would take back a large number of men, although he said it would be required to bring the industry back to normal.

Rumors that the Ford plant was to reopen this week were denied by company officials, who pointed out that their main concern was to factories probably would be idle the remainder of the month.

REDS THREATEN RUMANIA.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)

PARIS, Jan. 4.—France is concerned over unofficial dispatches telling of concentration of six new divisions of the Russian Bolshevik army on the frontier of Bessarabia and all along the Danube. Reports indicate Moscow is preparing an assault to try to regain Bessarabia.

The Associated Press is informed at the Romanian Legation that the Bolshevik menace, while always at the door of Rumania, is no more threatening than before. No confirmation had been received of the reports announcing all Rumanian railwaymen had been mobilized and that the king was reported to have signed a decree calling several regiments to the colors.

A dispatch today from the Rumanian Foreign Minister said that all was quiet in Rumania and made no mention of military preparations. It was explained that Rumania was neither at peace nor at war with Russia.

French official circles would not be surprised at a Bolshevik attack against Rumania and it is pointed out that such a move would have a three-fold purpose—to retake Bessarabia and to hasten a trade agreement with England by a display of force.

McLEAN BILL TO AID FARMERS APPROVED.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Senator McLean, Republican, announced to-night that Secretary Houston and the Federal Reserve Board had approved his bill providing for the use of profits of the Federal reserve banks for retirement of outstanding treasury certificates of indebtedness.

The measure is aimed as an aid to the farmer by reducing government paper bills of exchange which the result additional funds would be available for loans on agricultural products.

PREMATURE EXPLOSION IS FATAL TO ONE MAN.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

WILLIAMSON (W. Va.), Jan. 4.—George Hammel was killed by the premature explosion of dynamite near a boarding-house at Gates, near Williamson, last night. Earlier reports to military headquarters were that two men had been killed, but investigation by court martial authorities accounted for but one.

J. M. Tully, general superintendent of the Crystal Block mines, said threats had been made to dynamite a boarding-house of the miners near Gates, and requests had been made for guards.

Our Landlord Relents!

When our landlord told us that on January 1st our rent would be raised sky-high, we searched the city for a temporary location to house our stock until March 1st, when we move into a permanent new home on West Seventh Street.

But East or West, North or South, we could not find a thing! Finally, in desperation we appealed to our landlord with the result that we have extended our present lease sixty days.

This "two months' grace" gives us an opportunity to dispose of our stock—and we must sell everything—because new merchandise has been ordered for the opening of our new Seventh Street location.

We have forgotten all about cost and profit in many cases for this clearance. Our pressing need to sell merchandise quickly brings to you a value opportunity before equalled.

[Chef Wyman will give his tested and proved recipes to the readers of The Times, and any information pertaining to food and cookery that they may require. Answers will be given to all questions every Wednesday. Address all requests to A. E. Wyman, P. O. Box 3899, Los Angeles. —Ed.]

That good recipes are treasured is proved by two letters received this week in which the writers ask for recipes that I gave them twenty years ago, and which they have lost. One writer asks if I can give a recipe for a sailor's fish stew that I gave in Indianapolis.

This recipe is probably the oldest ever given in print, and was given in English for fish chowder, and was given in rhyme. I secured this recipe from a catering publication that has since gone out of existence. Recently that recipe was republished by the London Catering Works, and the author is unknown, but I have used this recipe for years and have found very little to add.

ORIGINAL FISH CHOWDER.

To make a good chowder and have it dispense with grease, margarine, parsley and onions. Meats, pork and salt are now wanted alone. To make the stew eat well and stick to the bone. Some pork is sliced thin and put in the soup, say you must turn it, then say you must not; and when it is brown, take it out of the fat. And add it again when you add this and a layer of potatoes, sliced a quarter-inch thick. Biscuits are placed in the bottom to make it eat better. A layer of onions now over this piece. Then season with pepper and salt and some mace. Sprinkle your crackers and give them a taste until you find the cream of the top of all this, now empty with my wish. And in large chunks of your pieces of fish. Then put the pieces of pork you have from the bones from which all the fat has been taken. In short, I never dare spare the cayenne. If it is to be eaten by men, after adding other things in regular rotation. You will have a dish fit for the best of the nation.

To this recipe, I would add, cover the ingredients with water and simmer until the potatoes are soft.

This week I have received two requests for Jewish recipes. One writer asks that I give her a recipe for chili that is served in Boston.

Boston is a long way from the home of chili con carne, and I do not know that the dish has gained any favor in traveling. On November 17, we published a recipe for chili in this column, and the writer can secure a copy at The Times office. For the chili con carne as served in a popular eatery in Boston, cut in small pieces a half pound of fresh pork and place in a saute pan, fry out and add two-thirds cup of chopped onion, and three-quarters pound of ground lean beef; saute until the onions are soft; then add one-and-one-half cups of canned pink beans and two cups of meat stock, cover and simmer half an hour. Season with salt, chili powder and chopped parsley.

PLATE DISHES.

D. M. N. city, wants to know how to make dumplings that will not fall or be heavy. Sift together two cups of flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon soda and one-half teaspoon salt. Rub in two tablespoons of shortening until the mixture is like coarse meal, with a spatula mix in one cup of sour milk or buttermilk, and mix lightly to a smooth dough. Turn out on a floured board, knead lightly and cut into little balls the size of a walnut. Roll to make even. Place on a greased colander, cover tightly and steam over boiling water twenty minutes. Set the steamed dumplings in a shallow dish for ten minutes to dry, and they will stay light for hours. To make without the sour milk, use four teaspoons of baking powder and one cup shortening, mix and add the soda.

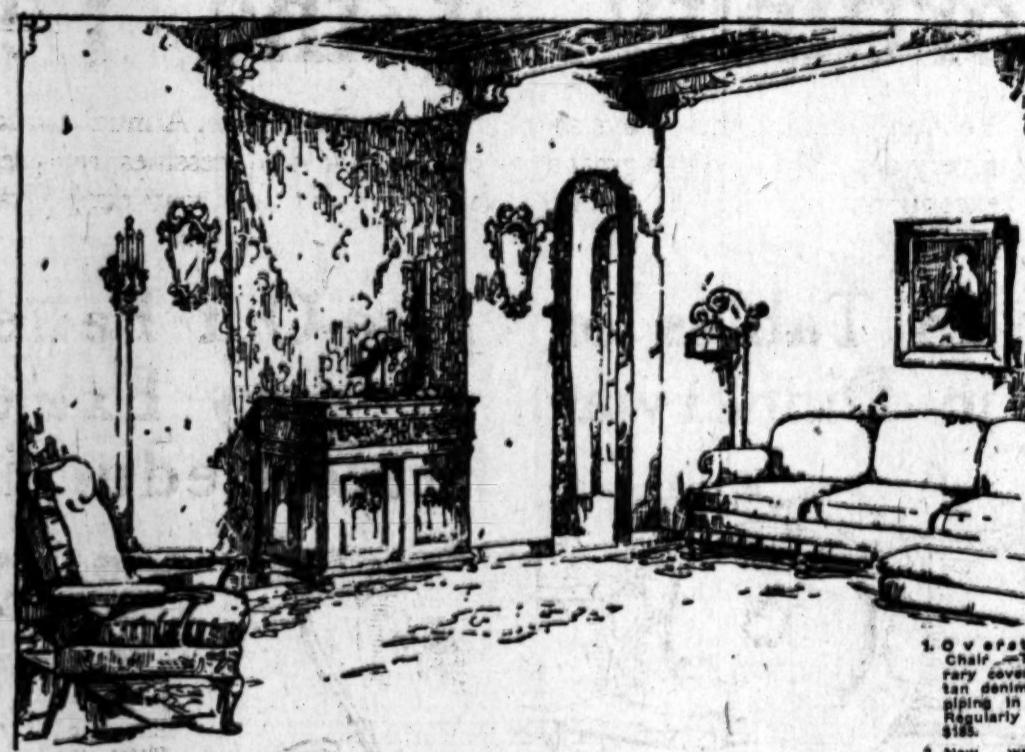

E. J. M., city, asks for a recipe for cheese cake as served in the restaurants of New York. On November 20, in this column, I gave a recipe for cheese pie, which I think is what the writer means, but I will give another that is very popular in the big town. Beat to a cream, one-third cup butter, one cup sugar, and when light and smooth beat in the yolks of five eggs, half a pound of cottage cheese, half a cup of chopped blanched almonds, one teaspoon flour, and the grated rind of one lemon, mix smooth; add the stiffly beaten whites of five eggs, pour into a paper lined pan and bake until set in a moderate oven. Sprinkle with sugar and browned almonds when taken from the oven.

M. L. L., city, asks for a recipe to make artichokes. The recipe published this week in this column for dumplings for the biscuits; for the artichokes use same recipe and add one tablespoon sugar and use four tablespoons of shortening instead of flour.

P. A. C. city, would like to have a recipe for Gefilte Fish or Jewish stuffed fish with sweet and sour sauce. The Jewish method of cooking fish is to stuff the fish with about three or four pounds Wash, scale and remove the entrails. The head can be left on if preferred. Wash the fish well in several waters and rub well with salt. Inside of fish let stand for an hour, wash and remove the bones. Now remove carefully part of the flesh; this requires great care as the skin must not be broken. Mince the fish removed and add to this one medium-sized onion, two teaspoons chopped parsley, quarter teaspoon nutmeg, two teaspoons melted butter, two tablespoons ground almonds, one finely chopped onion, and season with salt and pepper.

Place this dressing in the fish and tie in shape. Place in the fish boiler two cups of water, one minced onion and one sliced carrot and cook until the fish is done. In the stuffed fish add and simmer for one hour. When done, remove fish and strain the stock. Place one cup of the fish stock in a saucier and add four gingersnap ground fine, one-half cup currants, two tablespoons vinegar, two tablespoons lemon juice, half a tablespoon of onion juice, quarter cup chopped seeded raisins and one lemon cut in dice. Cook until smooth and thick. Pour over fish and serve cold.

DIAMOND lavalliere at $2000 has come before Thurzel Hartitos, 19, a woman who has been married less than a year, and her husband, Mr. Hartitos, 50, a life partner. Mr. Hartitos, who was born in Constantinople before he adopted his Greek name, gave the diamond lavalliere to his bride as a gift on their wedding day, Feb. 26, 1920. Mrs. Hartitos, a widow, died last year, leaving behind her a son, Mitchell, through whom she was connected with her husband.

Mr. Hartitos was very fond of diamonds. But now he is no longer for the sake of Mrs. Hartitos, who wears the pendant and has refused to return it to him. He has sold the diamond lavalliere to a man named Mitchell, through whom he was connected with his wife.

Husband Asks Accounting;
Says Son-in-Law Helps in Property Conspiracy.

Property valued at $200,000, situated in Whittier, is the basis of a suit on trial in Judge Stephens' court between Samuel W. Luitweller, wealthy pump man, and Sophia C. Luitweller, his wife, and L. Miller, his son-in-law. Mr. Luitweller, who brought the action, seeks an accounting. He asserts the lands are community property. His wife declares it was bequeathed to her. She demands $3000 as the value of the home and $800 damages for its removal. Mrs. Haritos also has instructed him for divorce. Mr. Mitchell said it is understood that the "gift" pendant will be one of the considerations related as a basis for a marital separation by husband.

Mr. Miller made a party to the action, and he charges that Mr. Luitweller declares that the former conspired with Mrs. Luitweller to do him out of a lot of property. The case will probably run a week. Attorneys: Tilden and May represent Mr. Luitweller; Kenyon Lee and Walter Haas are counsel for the defendants.

Mr. Luitweller brought the action, claiming while he and his wife occupied the same house, Mrs. Luitweller previously sued Mr. Luitweller for divorce, charging cruelty and desertion, and this suit is pending.

BEFORE AND AFTER.
How time flies. The United States Senate isn't one bit afraid of President Wilson. In fact it rather enjoys using him for target practice. Yet it is not so long ago that the Senate jumped the hoop or played dead at the Wilson command.

IN A TEMPEST.
Ireland doesn't seem to want industrial freedom and orderly government. She wants political turmoil. If England were to cut loose from Ireland all at once and give all Erin the order to choose a king of her own the green isle would be all shot up for the next hundred years.

THE REAL THING.
A Pennsylvania carelessly slipped a stick of dynamite in his hip pocket and went out to carry a mule. The four-legged Missourian qualified for the kicker's column and the resultant explosion obliterated the participants and the barn in which they met. It was thought that these tragedies only happened in the alert minds of the cartoonists, but here was one in real life.

KEEPTING STILL.
Way down in Mobile the sheriff's office reports the discovery and destruction of 342 stills during the year just closed. They ranged from the size of a coffee pot up to one with a capacity of 300 gallons. With all this activity the sheriff doesn't think he got a quarter of the number of private stills operated. There's one thing you can say for the people of Alabama—or for the whole South for that matter: They will keep still.

BAD ACTORS.
Senator Graham has a measure which repeals the indeterminate sentence act. It was defeated two years ago, but may fare better this time. While we have a wave of crime with us the temper of the people is much against easing the path or lessening the punishment of the criminal. Paroled and pardoned prisoners have not been a credit to their class. They are held to blame for a great many of the flagrant wrongs that doth beset our path.

CARE OF THE KIDS.
The women of the State are represented by their legislative council are behind a measure which would hedge the boys with the same protection against vice as is accorded to the girls of 18. Dependents and delinquents under that age would be wards of the court and any person contributing to such delinquency would be punished accordingly. In a few hundred years we hope to get around to a single standard of morals as well as the equality of the sexes in citizenship. Meanwhile our boys are to be protected as well as the girls.

ON THE HIGH SEAS.
Atty-Gen. Palmer rules that American laws apply to American ships no matter in what harbor of the world they are at anchor. The Eighteenth Amendment means strict prohibition aboard an American vessel, even when it is alongside the bar at Havana or at the wettest port in Spain. There can be no such thing as a house on a ship flying the American flag. That is the idea. But if all American laws are to apply on all American ships everywhere there are a lot of yachts out of Newport and New York that will be wanting foreign registration. However, the enforcement of these laws when ships are in strange seas and captain and crew are not favorably disposed is quite another problem. It is some task to police the ocean.

WANTS OF WORKERS.
The Ford employees wanted to run the plant on their own hook while it was officially shut down. It seems that some of the workers have no care of their own and they hoped in this way to get them at the partial expense of the factory. But Henry figured that if the men made cars for themselves there would be nothing to prevent them from selling them to others at a discount and he insisted that if any price-cutting were done it should be by him. Therefore the plant will remain closed until the time determined by Henry for its reopening. The motor magnate has always cuddled his employees. It remains to be seen whether they will stay cuddled when his factory doors are closed. Maybe he made a mistake in not giving each worker one of his celebrated road rabbets.

WORLD BARTER.
The exports from the port of New York last year aggregated $3,120,000,000, while the imports were $2,525,000,000. World trade is returning to the old channels. Europe is getting back on its feet and is producing to beat the band. The previous year the exports were nearly three billions and a half from the port of New York, while the imports were only a little over two billions. Last year's balance of trade exceeded a billion dollars in our favor, but now it is almost a stand-off. Fortunately we are getting back a lot of our gold and silver in the readjustment. The stream of coinage and bullion flows with reasonable freedom back and forth and indicates a return to normal conditions. The gold and silver received in New York from the Old World last year amounted to nearly $250,000,000 and was ten times as much as in the previous year. Trade is rapidly recuperating from the effects of the world tragedy. America must be sober and industrious to keep up its end.

SECONDARY BOYCOTT CRIMINAL.
Union labor's "bill of rights" has been found by the Supreme Court of the United States to be a bill of wrong. The secondary boycott, one of the favorite weapons of the union-labor bosses, is declared by the Supreme Court to be a violation of the Clayton Act. To attempt to enforce a secondary boycott is to commit a felony.

This decision, eminently just, is one that will break up one of the most unfair and un-American practices to which the union-labor movement has given birth. The secondary boycott has been practiced freely by the labor unions all over the country. It was a part of their policy of unfair coercion. A notable instance was the boycott which the local unions once used against the largest department store in Los Angeles because it used advertising space in The Times. The boycott of The Times because it dared to espouse the cause of industrial freedom was a primary boycott, a form that is still permitted under the Clayton Act.

But the trouble with Socialism is just that it is an economic system, and economics, money, commerce, property, are the most contentious factors between—and human beings will be so personal.

Wherefore we have the Russian system, known as Bolshevik. Under this system, if we are to believe the apparently authentic reports coming out of Russia, Lenin is more Czaristic than the late lamented Czar, freedom, as it is known, under constitutional monarchy or republican government, non est, the working day is anything from ten to sixteen hours, everybody owns everything but nobody owns anything, and organized militarism, even as with monarchical autocrats, is the chief weapon of compulsion. Pacifism and international brotherhood, which are the sweetest arguments for Socialism, take an alarmingly belligerent form in practice, and, from all accounts, fail to engender the universal content claimed for it.

Then there is the German system, which may be called moderate Socialism. Judging by the recent elections, moderate socialism is no more popular than immorality. Whereas Russia nationalized everything (the Czar having begun it with the railways, vodka and other indispensables,) the moderate Socialism of Germany has nationalized nothing. Whereas, under the Kaiser, quite a numerous faction enjoyed exemption from income tax, there is practically no exemption for anyone now. Workmen get much higher pay, but pay so much higher taxes that they are actually worse off the more they earn. As for "capital," since a capitalist is a man owning anything above 3000 marks, which means the price of about five pairs of shoes just now, and that in German paper money, pretty well every working man is a wicked capitalist to be taxed accordingly. The tax on increment of wealth expropriates to the State every pfennig exceeding 270,000 since 1913, so that the man who had one million good gold marks in June, 1913, and by useful production now owns two million of worthless paper marks, has really lost about 300,000 marks and is treated as a greedy profiteer and must hand over 730,000 of his unprofitable profits to the state.

Of course Socialists argue that the war is responsible for their embarrassment, but on the other hand, they knew that a great upheaval was the only method by which Socialism could ever be instated and if the Kaiser had not started it, they probably would have done it themselves. The war was, in fact, their opportunity—and they took it.

The third brand of Socialism is that of Australia, installed in peace and plenty under the benevolent self-governing system of the British crown. Australian Socialism has had the best chance of all, won simply by the ballot, with a great fertile continent to work in, British credit to sustain it, the British navy to protect it and British dignity and prestige to uphold it. And the result? Five million people in a continent greater than the United States, strikes every day, hopelessly backward commerce, low wages, high prices, crowded cities, millions of acres unexplored or vacant territory, imports exceeds exports, high taxes, poor credit, appalling transportation, out-dated methods of agriculture, manufacturers few and those despairing, and horse racing the chief national industry.

In Australia organized labor is supreme, most things are nationalized, working days are short and holidays many—but everybody kicks all the time. The rich kick and avoid enterprise and progress, because these are ever penalized. The middle classes wear an attitude of perpetual martyrdom. And the workingman kicks, strikes and kicks again, because he can't get more money for less work, because the rich won't open factories for him to control and because his labor-union government doesn't seem capable of performing a series of miracles.

Yet with these three more or less enchanting examples before us there are still any number of ardent devotees yearning to convert the rest of us to Socialism. They still up the same old line of talk about freedom, equality and international brotherhood. And all the while the world's population appears to be bent upon coming to the United States if we'll let them, which is republican, with as much liberty as most of us seem able to stand, or to the British dominions, other than Australia, where toasts still take the form of "Gentlemen, the King!"

In moderately Socialistic Germany the purchase of a bicycle is a taxable offense. In extremely Socialistic Russia a day off without leave is a punishable crime. In balmy Socialistic Australia the atmosphere is thick with one loud, long peee.

Yes, there is no doubt that like our host's home brew, Socialism needs recomending.

SOCIALISM TRIED OUT.
There are three distinct brands of Socialism being tried out. Webster defines Socialism as "an economic theory or system of the reconstruction of society upon the basis of co-operation of labor and community of property."

Which sounds so entirely simple. Theoretically Socialism is the great leverer by which the poor become richer, the rich become poorer, everybody works a little, nobody works too much, there are equal opportunities for all, special privileges for none, every citizen is as good as every other citizen, brotherly love and content cementing the whole.

So far so good. But the trouble with Socialism is just that it is an economic system, and economics, money, commerce, property, are the most contentious factors between—and human beings will be so personal.

Wherefore we have the Russian system, known as Bolshevik. Under this system, if we are to believe the apparently authentic reports coming out of Russia, Lenin is more Czaristic than the late lamented Czar, freedom, as it is known, under constitutional monarchy or republican government, non est, the working day is anything from ten to sixteen hours, everybody owns everything but nobody owns anything, and organized militarism, even as with monarchical autocrats, is the chief weapon of compulsion. Pacifism and international brotherhood, which are the sweetest arguments for Socialism, take an alarmingly belligerent form in practice, and, from all accounts, fail to engender the universal content claimed for it.

Then there is the German system, which may be called moderate Socialism. Judging by the recent elections, moderate socialism is no more popular than immorality. Whereas Russia nationalized everything (the Czar having begun it with the railways, vodka and other indispensables,) the moderate Socialism of Germany has nationalized nothing. Whereas, under the Kaiser, quite a numerous faction enjoyed exemption from income tax, there is practically no exemption for anyone now. Workmen get much higher pay, but pay so much higher taxes that they are actually worse off the more they earn. As for "capital," since a capitalist is a man owning anything above 3000 marks, which means the price of about five pairs of shoes just now, and that in German paper money, pretty well every working man is a wicked capitalist to be taxed accordingly. The tax on increment of wealth expropriates to the State every pfennig exceeding 270,000 since 1913, so that the man who had one million good gold marks in June, 1913, and by useful production now owns two million of worthless paper marks, has really lost about 300,000 marks and is treated as a greedy profiteer and must hand over 730,000 of his unprofitable profits to the state.

Of course Socialists argue that the war is responsible for their embarrassment, but on the other hand, they knew that a great upheaval was the only method by which Socialism could ever be instated and if the Kaiser had not started it, they probably would have done it themselves. The war was, in fact, their opportunity—and they took it.

The third brand of Socialism is that of Australia, installed in peace and plenty under the benevolent self-governing system of the British crown. Australian Socialism has had the best chance of all, won simply by the ballot, with a great fertile continent to work in, British credit to sustain it, the British navy to protect it and British dignity and prestige to uphold it. And the result? Five million people in a continent greater than the United States, strikes every day, hopelessly backward commerce, low wages, high prices, crowded cities, millions of acres unexplored or vacant territory, imports exceeds exports, high taxes, poor credit, appalling transportation, out-dated methods of agriculture, manufacturers few and those despairing, and horse racing the chief national industry.

In Australia organized labor is supreme, most things are nationalized, working days are short and holidays many—but everybody kicks all the time. The rich kick and avoid enterprise and progress, because these are ever penalized. The middle classes wear an attitude of perpetual martyrdom. And the workingman kicks, strikes and kicks again, because he can't get more money for less work, because the rich won't open factories for him to control and because his labor-union government doesn't seem capable of performing a series of miracles.

Yet with these three more or less enchanting examples before us there are still any number of ardent devotees yearning to convert the rest of us to Socialism. They still up the same old line of talk about freedom, equality and international brotherhood. And all the while the world's population appears to be bent upon coming to the United States if we'll let them, which is republican, with as much liberty as most of us seem able to stand, or to the British dominions, other than Australia, where toasts still take the form of "Gentlemen, the King!"

In moderately Socialistic Germany the purchase of a bicycle is a taxable offense. In extremely Socialistic Russia a day off without leave is a punishable crime. In balmy Socialistic Australia the atmosphere is thick with one loud, long peee.

Yes, there is no doubt that like our host's home brew, Socialism needs recomending.

DETERRED OUT.
The novelty of a strike of janitors has been at least postponed. The janitors of nearly all the apartment-houses in Chicago were demanding an increase in pay which in most cases amounted to a 50 per cent advance. They announced that if this boost in their earnings was not met they would go on a strike and leave the flats and apartments without heat or care.

This condition is one that was not foreseen when the Constitution was written and one that gives an undeserved advantage to that section of the country east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, for in that territory at least 13,000,000 of the 14,000,000 unnaturalized foreigners reside. In order to right this palpable though unintentional wrong an organization known as the "Alied Citizens of America" has been formed. Its purpose is to secure the adoption of an amendment to the Federal Constitution which will base representation in Congress on the number of actual citizens and not on gross population.

This condition is one that was not foreseen when the Constitution was written and one that gives an undeserved advantage to that section of the country east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, for in that territory at least 13,000,000 of the 14,000,000 unnaturalized foreigners reside. Its purpose is to secure the adoption of an amendment to the Federal Constitution which will base representation in Congress on the number of actual citizens and not on gross population.

Then a mighty fear went up from both landlord and tenant. It appeared that if the increase was paid many of the janitors would be making less than $300. As a middleman the janitor appeared to be the most grasping one of the tribe. At a time when there was a downward drift in wages this action on the part of the janitors was uncalled for.

But the janitors had a union and the leaders and walking delegates went ahead with their plans for a strike. Finally the uproar was such that the peace of the community was threatened. It looked as if the courts and the militia might have to intervene.

BRILLIANT SEERESS.

A Mme. Teleme of Paris, heralded as the "foremost prophetess of Europe," has made some remarkable predictions for Warren G. Harding's regime. It appears that his stars "make it necessary for him to prepare for difficulties from other nations which will probably be occasioned by the peace treaty, and that both political and labor troubles will occur during his administration."

What do you know about that? Oh, it can't be true. Incredible! Impossible!

No, Mme. Teleme is too sensational. We simply can't believe it.

Good Santa Claus brought Myra Jones.

A doll with real wavy hair And eyes that winked; to Anna Penn.

He gave a pitiful affair With button eyes and pencilled mouth And body made from cast-off wear.

Oh but the love that Anna Penn

Lavished upon her woolen boy.

While Myra Jones' doll was robbed Of both its eyes within the week;

Within the month its hair was gone And all the pins scrubbed from each cheek.

The god of love gave Myra Jones

A good man's heart for guerdon

She came to womanhood, and

"strong;"

The god of love gave Anna Penn

A weakling marked by rod and knife Despised of women, cursed of men.

Oh but the love that Anna Penn

Gave to the one whom she did wife.

She led him climbing toward the stars,

She healed the wounds from every knife,

While Myra Jones took her good man

And broke his heart and wrecked his life.

LEGACY IN ODD DEATH CASE PAID.

McCann Mystery in Court;

Husband Not Convicted of Murder, Judge Rules.

An echo of the McCann case

the death of Mrs. Mary Ann Peague

McCann, was heard in Judge Shenk's courtroom yesterday when a $500 legacy given to Thomas

McCann under her will, was turned over to R. J. Adcock. Mr. McCann's attorney.

McCann had left a legacy under an assignment made by Mr. McCann

as security for attorney's fees at the time Mr. McCann was arrested, charged with the murder of his wife. McCann was put in the County Jail but while the premiminary examination was going on he committed suicide.

Mr. Adcock petitioned the court for the purpose of regaining the estate. The estate remained the claim.

Under the law any person convicted of the murder of a spouse forfeits any rights to a legacy.

It was stipulated in Judge Shenk's court that McCann die as the hand of Mr. McCann but it was not admitted that he murdered her.

Judge Shenk granted Mr. Adcock's petition on the ground that there had been no conviction of Mr.

McCann, no trial and that he died with the presumption of innocence.

Gained Several Pounds in Weight, He States.

"I have just finished my third bottle of Tanlac and, it's a fact, I wouldn't take three hundred dollars a bottle for the good it has done me," was the emphatic statement made recently by E. B. Parker, 50, Laguna Beach, Los Angeles, motorman of the Stephen Avenue line of the Los Angeles City Railway.

"I haven't been in good health for a good many years, but during the past year I have been worse off than ever. I had just about reached my limit, for I wasn't able to work regular and had forgotten what it meant to feel good. My appetite had left me and many a day I had to make myself eat a little something to keep from starving."

"My stomach gave me all sorts of trouble, and even at night I was worried and bothered, so that it looked like I might as well get out of bed, for I couldn't sleep at all hardly. In the morning I fell all in, and on the days I was able to work it was all I could do to handle my car."

"It was the best thing I ever did, when I commenced taking this Tanlac. It has simply made me feel like I never had anything the matter with me and today I can say that I am in better health than I have enjoyed for years. I have a fine appetite, have picked up in weight and am never bothered in any way at all. I sleep fine and never miss a single trip with my car now."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Stores. A personal Tanlac representative is at their Fifth and Broadway Store afternoons.—[Advertisement]

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE:

PASADENA, Jan. 4.—Stricken while engaged in a game of golf with friends at the Midway Country Club, Jesse Hoyt Smith of Milwaukee died early this morning at his winter home, 6 Wrenwood Place. Mr. Smith was one of the known men in the Middle West and had only been in Pasadena five weeks. He was in the best of health when he went out to the links yesterday, but shortly after he started playing he suffered a stroke and lay prostrate, from which he failed to rally. Mr. Smith was a retired businessman of Milwaukee, his father, Angus Smith, having been one of the pioneer wheatmen of Wisconsin for 53 years of age and is survived by his widow. The body is at Reynolds & Ebrie's and will be sent East for burial.

The women are winter visitors and are residing at 601 Ocean Front. This afternoon they entered the surf at the front of Paloma avenue and were washed ashore, having come from shore when they became numb from the cold and fell victim to a rip tide. The men who effected the rescue, passed as they were swimming and when they were found.

When the women had been brought to the beach they were given into the care of friends and the heroes of the rescue departed without giving their names to any of the bystanders.

New York Boxing Commission Slaps Back at Pugs.

Maximum Amount of Admission is Agreed Upon.

Exception Made Only in Charitable Affairs.

BY A. F. NIGHTINGALE
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—A $15 maximum admission for championship boxing contests in this State and $10 for ordinary bouts were ordered today by the State Boxing Commission. Exception is made only in the case of bouts for charitable purposes. The commission notified clubs to arrange no bouts at higher prices.

Declaring high prices of tickets "have been caused largely by the exorbitant demands of certain boxers," the commission said, "but little about the public upon whom they must depend for their awards," the commission said. "The time has come when this selfish and shortsighted attitude must be corrected."

"Men who believe high rates bring a hardship upon the man of moderate means, who is just as much entitled to see champions as his wealthier neighbors."

CONTINENTAL LEAGUE ASSIGNS FRANCHISES.

BY A. F. NIGHTINGALE
BOSTON, Jan. 4.—The Continental Baseball League, Inc., which its promoters say will put baseball teams into several major league cities, held its first meeting today and elected Andrew F. Lawson of this city, as president.

Franchises were assigned by States as follows:

Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and possibly the province of Ontario, with a team at Toronto. Mr. Lawson announced it had been agreed to have no salary limits and that in the event the Red Sox would accept the offer to sell, a park would be built in Boston.

REVIEWING SPORTS FOR PAST YEAR.

ROWING.

The rowing season showed some gratifying results and an all around activity which promises a great future for civilian boating. The almost mushroom growth of industrial clubs is the chief factor in the beneficial influence on rowing and the number of men to take up the sport is something surprising. Disputes which heretofore focused one of the year's attention took form of hundreds of knights of the ashen blade, and what is most satisfactory is that all are well equipped with the very best types of rowing shells.

The entry of the Navy crew into civilian rowing helped the sport wonderfully, and it was first doubted that Annapolis could hold its own with such clubs as Duluth and other clubs, but the critics were wrong for not only did the Navy win the national championship but it also earned the right to compete in the Olympic regatta. At Antwerp the Navy was bringing such a crack English crew as Leander in the final.

Jack Kelly of the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia won the Olympic singles and had the supreme satisfaction of defeating the English winner of the diamond sculls. Earlier in the season Kelly's entry for the race was rejected owing to some old grievance against the Vespers.

YACHTING.

The international yacht race between Resolute and Shamrock IV

INSIST ON HIGH MORALE.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Loyalty and discipline known in army life as discipline will be an important factor in baseball during the season of 1921 if one may judge by advance statements of club owners and managers.

Both Managers, Evans of the White Sox, have openly declared against crap games, poker sessions for big stakes and other forms of gambling which not only tend to take the players' minds off baseball but can easily break the rules.

Until last season gambling for large stakes was seldom seen among produced the great sailing sensation of the season, and the contest wound up with the United States once again maintaining the yachting supremacy of the Americas. The Resolute won three out of the five races, but the last race was not reached till the last race, when both sloops had won two races apiece, the excitement was at fever pitch. In this race the Herreshoff boat, the Shamrock IV over thirteen minutes on actual sailing time over the course of thirty nautical miles.

Although the American cup has been in this country for nearly twenty-two years, it was noteworthy that this year was the first one in which a British boat scored a real victory. The Shamrock IV, the Shamrock IV Resolute, broke down leaving the challenger to finish alone. The second victory of the Shamrock IV was clean cut win for the Lipton boat which outdid the others in speed of actual sailing, but this was considerably shortened by a handicap of six minutes forty seconds allowed to the American sloop.

BILLIARDS.

In at least one particular the year 1920 in billiards was a good deal like the year before. That was in the determination of the prowess of William Hoppes, the billiards king of the world. Hoppes recently defended the world's championship at the 18-1/2 balkline billiards and one more time through such flying colors winning over Walker Cochran and Young Jake Schaefer, who had emerged triumphant in a preliminary event. Hoppes was not called upon to defend the 38-1, 14-1 and 34-2 titles.

On her return to America, Miss America completed for the gold cup, and there again she demonstrated and proved that she was the champion.

Not only did she capture the trophy but she set up a new speed record by doing over seventy-two miles an hour. No such speed has ever been shown by any class of vessel propelled by motive power.

Chicago teams it seems likely that such a situation would arise. In that case, he had the plan with which to take advantage of it.

FERVID AUTOPSY OVER BIG GAME.

the few men of whom Andy Smith made confidants before the game.

His enthusiasm at that time indicated he entertained no positive certainty of the result, not to the point anyway of taking any unnecessary chances of the California line being crossed, and that his strategy was to play the bunt or attack on Ohio. Early in the game, however, he wanted to keep the ball out of California territory, even in the hands of Ohio. They late in the game when the Buckeyes had won themselves out, he evidently intended to loose the full offensive strength of the Bears on straight football, should the aerial attack have failed to get results earlier.

"If they are expecting a straight football from us from the start, they are mistaken," said Smith, as it was related to me. "In the earlier part of the game we are not going to attempt to carry the ball at all. We are going to get as soon as we get a break inside Ohio's 30-yard line we will start."

—CAME SOONER.

This break came much sooner than probably anticipated, but California was not unprepared. In fact, there was not a situation which arose at any time that the Bears did not meet with the care of their careful preparation.

Never were eleven men more skillfully deployed, with the result that every thrust, every drive and every maneuver of Ohio was check-mated. The players were like chessmen on a board, batted under the touch of a master hand, thanks to the thoroughness of their teamwork.

Charles Erb "went out" after the game, and was unconscious for more than an hour. Whether this was due to his heart, or the after effects of a sunstroke which he experienced last summer, was not stated.

SOPHIE SISTERS.

When the California team de-bouched onto the field after the intermission to complete its triumph, few knew that these huskies had a moment before been behaving like a convention of sob sisters, and that their faces were still damp and salty from hot tears.

But after the first half, Andy Smith met the players in the clubhouse. He was so touched and thankful for what they had done that he cracked under his emotions and began to cry. This was much too much, and the thirty-some stalwarts in the room turned on the weeps, which were punctuated in the Smith plan.

Such lachrymose manifestations are not unknown in sports, even among the exceptionally hardy. Do Witt Van Court never had a better friend in the world than Jim Jeffries. Had somebody stuck Van in the pit of the stomach with a baseball bat, he might have been painful, but it wouldn't have hurt him as much as it did to see Johnnie send big Jim sprawling to the hot canvas in that Reno ring.

—BUCKS INTO ALLEY.

Van Court hurried down the street, desiring to be alone. When it became apparent that his emotions were getting the best of him, he ducked down an alley back of a saloon. Rounding a corner with the tears rolling down his face, he almost stumbled over Jack Jeffries and Bob Armstrong. They were sitting on a box, hoo-hooing like a couple of 6-year-old Junes who had been robbed of their rag dolls.

At the conclusion of the football game in the 1888 race, when the Angels lost the pennant on the last day, friends found Johnny Powers and Jim Morley immured in a darkened office acting like a couple of tenders. They had just witnessed the death of little Eva. Johnny's tears were genuine, and within the restrictions of the Volunteer Act, Jim's tears, however, are believed to have been slightly sicker.

SEATTLE HAS RATH FOR FIVE MINUTES

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SEATTLE (Wash.) Jan. 4.—It was much of a triumph for Freddie to boast of. Yet he is satisfied.

"Going to fight my way back to Leonard," he said after his first conquest.

But such boys as Willie Jackson, Eddie Mitchell, Lew Tender and Eddie Flissimmons have not lost any sleep over the 24-year-old ex-champion's appearance.

Before he lifted the crown from Willie Ritchie in 1914 Freddie used to punch his opponents to sleep. He cracked them up when he was asked.

But after he got the torna his motto was "live and let live."

TITLE IN BOND.

Scores of times he was outpointed but the no-decision agreement kept his title in bond. As long as he was in the ring he was a good fighter, but he has been called a human fighter. To encourage the comers and let 'em all make money was the angle from which he played his championship.

The knockdowns were never unusual because he wanted the other fellow to make money.

Once in a while some chap would get rough with him. Then Freddie got rough with his stuff.

Big purses had not come along when he was carrying the palm. He even lost money when he took the title away from Ritchie over in London. However, none of the "comers he decided when on the last night he had just little Eva, June, the year, however, are slightly al-

LADY is bound for fine earnings, diamond rings, best clothes running along, and tells the driver to go for his wife. The driver goes, takes the wife to a spot where she is robbed of her purse, even her clothes are taken. The lady sits out and waits while she is robbed of earnings and money, even her clothes are taken. Then Eddie Burke and his fellow criminal confederates drive off together, leaving her in the road, fortunately not injured physically.

What better encouragement to crime than sending an unknown taxicab, most convenient machine for robbery, to take a well-dressed, beweaved woman on an errand through the park or through lessened streets after dark?

There are responsible taxicab companies, with reliable drivers. There are associations of independent taxicab drivers, admitting members to their organization thoroughly reliable.

There are individual taxicab owners, operating independently. There are also jailbirds and professional criminals, scores of them in every big city, running taxicabs as a side issue for part of a livelihood, for a chance to rob women or men as their serious business.

IF YOU DON'T WANT TO BE ROBBED, CALL TAXICABS WITH A REPUTATION KNOWN TO YOU.

Don't believe that any license number protects you. A number is easily changed. Responsible cab owners, and big companies, should all enter some organization of owners. The irresponsible should be put off the streets.

KIPLING INTERESTED.

WRITER MAY COME HERE TO SUPERVISE FILMS.

By Grace Kingsley.

There may be deserted villages among the studios and film lots of Burbank studio isn't numbered among them. Nine companies were at work yesterday, and two more are scheduled for the near future.

Irene Castle is to come west and locate pictures to make there, according to the present understanding. She will be here in the course of a fortnight or so. Mrs. Castle's pictures are being released through W. W. Hodder.

Another newcomer will be the Kipling Production Company, which should begin work, according to the word of Robert Brunton, within a few weeks. The new company are in intensive complications in regard to the filming of the Rudyard Kipling stories. Indeed, Mr. Kipling's interest is so eager, not to say anxious, that he has written a reflection of his literary standards. Even after making out minute plans and specifications for the filming of his stories, a work which has occupied him three months, he may decide, according to Mr. Brunton, to go to person to see to the complete fulfillment of his ideals. Randolph Lewis is assisting him in the work. It is likely that the first story filmed will be "Whistling Beneath the Cliffs."

The "Peaches Had Boy" company has moved over to the Brunton studios from the Mayer plant, and a sort of reorganization seems to be taking place in its ranks. Announcement regarding this will be made in course of a few days. Doris May, who recently completed her contract with Thomas H. Ince, is to be one of the stars of the cast, and, of course, little Jackie Coogan has the role of infant terrible.

Ruth Roland has just completed her latest serial, "The Avering Arrow," and leaves New York for a long vacation. The Serial Company, with T. Hayes Hunter directing, is getting ready to shoot; Sid Franklin is busy on his current picture, as also Betty Compson with her second, her third?—independent production.

Ben Rich is making "A Certain Rich Man." Mary Pickford is busy on her own story, with Al Green and Jack Pickford directing. Douglas Fairbanks is in the middle of a picture; the Emerson-Looe picture is well under way, and a new Frothingham production has just been started.

George Loane Tucker, it was reported yesterday by a representative of the Emerson-Looe picture, is rapidly recuperating from his long illness, and will probably be able to start work about February 1.

Billy Broad in Germany.

Shaking an eloquent ankle on Unter den Linden before the signing of the peace, the young actress of "The Yankee in the shadow of Hindenburg's frowning statue, was the experience of Billy Broad, now at Pantages, and better known to the public as Dorothy Gish.

Mr. Broad was one of the first entertainers to go across, and one of the very first American actors to play Berlin, where he entertained the American Military Mission.

Mr. Broad is a tall, slender man, and his picture is well taken. His introduction signed by the officers of the mission is treasured by Billy as a memento of that happy occasion.

Billy's Next.

Reginald Barker's next production for Goldwyn will be "The Old Nest," from Rupert Hughes' novel of the same name, for which the author is now writing the continuity.

Bal Masque.

As if we hadn't enough days now to celebrate, especially in view of the death of the wunderkinder of the theatrical drama, the Los Angeles Theaters' Association, the new organization recently formed, composed of thirty downtown theaters, hasn't been and gone and settled on a new name.

This gay festival will be known as the Annual Fiesta of the Los Angeles Theaters' Association, but they promise the occasion won't be anything like its namesake. In fact, it will be quite jolly with all the best little picture cut-ups and all the loveliest stars present.

The annual fiesta will be given the evening of February 15th in the lobby of the new Ambassador Hotel.

A grand march by picture stars, a bal masque and program will be the allure for the crowds.

Sid Grauman, who is chairman of the committee on special events, which would seem to promise that they will be very special indeed.

The grand march will be participated in by picture stars, a band, Prizes for wearers of the most interesting and beautiful costumes will be awarded at 1 o'clock, following the unmasking.

Another feature will be a pageant revealing the history of motion pictures as they have developed from the beginning. Side shows are also promised. Press agents will likewise turn out to the fiesta, each of his own picture theater.

The committee in charge of the affair is composed of Mr. Grauman, as chairman; Alexander Pantagis, L. B. Cowart, George Loane Tucker, W. T. Wyatt, W. H. Clune, Harry David of the new Mission Theater, H. D. McBride and W. R. Payne. The details are in charge of Francis Woodward, secretary of the association.

Gifted Singer Returns.

Miss Helen Thorner, the noted singer, will appear in recital during her former residence here, and it attracted an audience that was a distinct tribute, both in its size and the quality of the reception.

And even from the reception aid it appears that the public still enjoys the fine art of the theater, after a long period of abstinence—an abstinence that has been the result of choice, as well as necessity.

Mr. Mantell's presentation of "Hamlet" is a great presentation, because it measures so deeply the well-spring of his feeling. This is true, not only as an artist, but for the ensemble of his production.

The performance was rich in character, even though its mode was traditional. There was enough of dramatic in his brother life to into the beauties of the master work which may drop, but never fade.

The action of the tragedy was made paramount, and episode was a cumulative potency leading to the actual crisis that comes with unveiling the conscience of the king, and catastrophes following with disastrous effect.

The spell of music, and the effect of lighting lent to the ghost scene, always a stumbling block for every presenter, a reality that contained the added thrill of a voice from the infinite spaces.

Mantell's Hamlet commands by his potency and vigor. His interpretation is in thing of splendid structure. It is a brilliant production, perfect—keep all the words that one readily associates with the spiritual ideal of the Prince of Denmark.

They will present an all-Russian program, with Max Rosen, the distinguished young American violinist as the soloist. Max will play off Tchaikovsky's Concerto for Violin in D Major, Op. 35, the only concerto written for this instrument by the famous Russian composer.

Mr. Mantell's presentation of "Hamlet" is a great presentation, because it measures so deeply the well-spring of his feeling. This is true, not only as an artist, but for the ensemble of his production.

The performance was rich in character, even though its mode was traditional. There was enough of dramatic in his brother life to into the beauties of the master work which may drop, but never fade.

The action of the tragedy was made paramount, and episode was a cumulative potency leading to the actual crisis that comes with unveiling the conscience of the king, and catastrophes following with disastrous effect.

The spell of music, and the effect of lighting lent to the ghost scene, always a stumbling block for every presenter, a reality that contained the added thrill of a voice from the infinite spaces.

Mantell's Hamlet commands by his potency and vigor. His interpretation is in thing of splendid structure. It is a brilliant production, perfect—keep all the words that one readily associates with the spiritual ideal of the Prince of Denmark.

KIPLING INTERESTED.

WRITER MAY COME HERE TO SUPERVISE FILMS.

By Grace Kingsley.

There may be deserted villages among the studios and film lots of Burbank studio isn't numbered among them. Nine companies were at work yesterday, and two more are scheduled for the near future.

Irene Castle is to come west and locate pictures to make there, according to the present understanding. She will be here in the course of a fortnight or so. Mrs. Castle's pictures are being released through W. W. Hodder.

Another newcomer will be the Kipling Production Company, which should begin work, according to the word of Robert Brunton, within a few weeks. The new company are in intensive complications in regard to the filming of the Rudyard Kipling stories. Indeed, Mr. Kipling's interest is so eager, not to say anxious, that he has written a reflection of his literary standards. Even after making out minute plans and specifications for the filming of his stories, a work which has occupied him three months, he may decide, according to Mr. Brunton, to go to person to see to the complete fulfillment of his ideals. Randolph Lewis is assisting him in the work. It is likely that the first story filmed will be "Whistling Beneath the Cliffs."

The "Peaches Had Boy" company has moved over to the Brunton studios from the Mayer plant, and a sort of reorganization seems to be taking place in its ranks. Announcement regarding this will be made in course of a few days. Doris May, who recently completed her contract with Thomas H. Ince, is to be one of the stars of the cast, and, of course, little Jackie Coogan has the role of infant terrible.

Ruth Roland has just completed her latest serial, "The Avering Arrow," and leaves New York for a long vacation. The Serial Company, with T. Hayes Hunter directing, is getting ready to shoot; Sid Franklin is

UNION OIL OUT OF TOOL FIELD.*Sells Holdings in Subsidiary to National Supply.*Three Large Plants Involved in Transaction.*Transferred Corporation Will Not Lose Individuality.

Retirement of the Union Oil Company from its interests in the manufacture and sale of oil-field machinery and supplies and transfer of its holdings in the Union Tool Company to the National Supply Company was confirmed last night by J. H. Barr, president of the National Supply Company, who admitted that his corporation has closed the transaction, involving between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000.

This purchase of the controlling interest in the Union Tool Company gives the National Supply Company already a large manufacturing plant at Toledo, Ohio, and both companies have many sales branches and agencies in the California oil fields and in other States.

The two companies are not merger of the two companies, says Mr. Barr. The 100 other stockholders of the Union Tool Company have been offered the same price for their holdings as that paid by the Union Oil Company for its large block of stock, but whether or not they sell, the Union Tool Company will continue as a corporate entity, and there will be no changes of organization or of personnel.

The Union Tool Company was started as a small concern at Fresno and Orcutt in 1899 by the late Edward Dole, who was active in its direction until his death last year. It made and sold hardware and machine tools and more than 200 outlets were opened up in the West, and as the demand for oil-well supplies and machinery became greater, the business quickly expanded. Lyman Stewart, son of W. L. Stewart, was one of the early investors in the enterprise and became president of the concern.

Before the National Supply Company has had time to supply its branches in the West from its plant at Toledo, but the control of the Torrance plant by its purchase of control of the Union Tool Company will make it possible to handle the business in this State from its western manufacturing headquarters, Mr. Barr declares.

GET NEW LEADS IN SUDOW CASE.

son's report said he drove the couple about 1:30 p.m. The alleged quarrel between Sudow and Mrs. Sudow on Normal Hill, during which the woman is said to have fainted and the man made threats, was witnessed by another witness who identified Sudow as the man and said he thought the date of the quarrel was December 6 or 7. Sudow admits having an argument with his wife at Normal Hill, but says he did not threaten giving, and denies that she fainted or that he threatened her if she did not remarry him.

Heecton, McCarren and Reed are working on other information, and Sudow will be questioned again, should anything new develop.

Legion and Army Men at Services for War Victim.

Full military honors were paid yesterday afternoon to the remains of First Lieut. Clinton K. Coburn, victim of wounds received in the last great offensive of the Ninety-first Division at Bellême, who died on Arras Dec. 1918. The body arrived from France last Friday. Yesterday the cortège was escorted to Rosedale Cemetery by comrades from Hollywood Post No. 43 and Los Angeles American Legion Post No. 8. Captain Leslie C. Boyd conducted the services at the Brasse chapel, at which a large number of the soldier's friends were present.

At the burial site soldiers and one boy from Fort MacArthur formed the firing squad. Threemember from the Los Angeles American Legion Post and three from the Hollywood Post acted as pallbearers. They were T. Johnston, C. L. Smith, J. M. Rubertis, W. M. Wadsworth, Donald Gilligan and Charles Fisher.

Prior to entry into the service Lieut. Coburn was employed by the Studebaker Corporation and was graduated from the Culver Military Academy. He was a son of Mrs. Coburn, 1000 North Holbrooke drive. A sister, Mrs. S. Tebbs, also resides in Los Angeles.

CHARGE EARLIER CRIME.

Police Say Girl Was Convicted Once Before of Shoplifting.

Following a long investigation by Police Detective Mattie Shy, Miss Norma Sieweke of Venice, arrested at Eighth street and Broadway on December 29, and charged with shoplifting, will be taken into court today. According to the officers, the prisoner was released some time ago on a $1000 bond, but was again arrested on the same charge and will probably be forced to serve her time.

Miss Sieweke was arrested by the two officers in a large department store, where they said, she attempted to steal some clothing, stolen from a counter. A quantity of stolen clothing was found in her possession, the police assert.

Miss Sieweke lived in Venice before her arrest, according to the detective, and her apartment there was searched, but no looted was found. Officers yesterday declared that Mrs. Smith of 4295 Hammer street, Belvedere, the girl's mother, had nothing to do with the case, and moreover, her home was made; that Miss Sieweke has not lived at home for some time, and no suspicion was attached to her mother.

Convertible Sinking Fund 8% 10-Year Gold Bonds

Dated January 1, 1921

Interest payable January and July 1st in New York

Coupon bonds in denominations of $1000

Redeemable by lot at 105 and accrued interest

$8,000,000

CONVERTIBLE FEATURE: Convertible at option of holder until and including maturity (unless called by Sinking Fund) into stock of Corporation at rate of 30 shares for each one thousand dollar bond.SINKING FUND: Trust Indenture provides Sinking Fund of at least 20% of net earnings of Corporation, but not less than $40,000 per annum to be applied to purchase of bonds in market at 105 and interest, or the redemption of bonds at that price drawn by lot. Sinking Fund is estimated to be sufficient to retire entire issue by maturity.COMPANY: This Company was organized in 1915 under the laws of the State of New York. It owns valuable copper and silver mines in the Cerro de Pasco District in Peru, which is considered one of the richest mining districts in the world. They also own extensive haciendas (about 70,000 acres), 83 miles of railroad, valuable water rights, water power sites, surface rights and other valuable properties in the district. In the last five years the average annual output has been 64,000,000 pounds of copper and 5,200,000 ounces of silver. The directorate of the Company includes such well known names as Osgood Mills, J. H. Harding, Charles Steele of New York, Edward H. Clark of San Francisco and Albert J. Bennett of London.ASSETS: On December 31, 1920, the net tangible assets, including reserves and stockholders equity, in owned properties applicable to capital stock amounted to $48,776,310 or $54.30 per share of no par value. There is outstanding $90,229 shares of no-par value which rank junior to this issue of bonds.PURPOSE OF ISSUE: These bonds constitute the sole funded debt of the Company and cover expenditures on new smelter plant, the balance of which is being financed from current earnings. The Trust Indenture provides that any subsequent mortgage on real property or pledge of securities will secure the outstanding bonds of this issue by a prior lien.

The estimated income for 1920 will be $4,000,000. Interest and Sinking Fund charges for same period, $1,440,000. Dividends of $4 per share have been paid since organization, with extra dividends in 1917 and 1918.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Speculative issues were prominent feature of today's stock market, their variable strength, which probably proceeded from pool operations, affording contrast to the irregular or absent nature of the seasoned shares.

The heavy volume of calls was a disappointment to traders who had hoped that the January reinvestment inquiry and enlarged transaction would bring about a market rally. Sales were short, however.

These developments were partly neutralized by more bank failures at western agricultural points, furthering the same confusing character, although not lacking in constructive elements. Exchange on London was strong, a moderate recovery was reported in refined copper and partial resumption of activity was announced from industrial centers.

No perceptible relaxation of money rates was shown, although offerings of time funds were more liberal. Trading in bonds was only moderate, but the tide was upward. All Library and Victory flotations closed at gains. Total sales, par value, $14,575,000. Old United States bonds unchanged on call.

Total sales of stocks, 721,000 shares. Total value of bonds, $10,180,000.
